Rebuttal to Argument Against Measure C

Excellent schools are the bedrock of our community – they improve our quality of life and protect the value of our homes. Measure C renews critical school funding for core academic programs and maintains smaller class sizes to ensure that students get more individualized attention from their teachers.

The opponents of Measure C recycle the same misleading data and stock arguments against every school funding measure in the Peninsula. Here are the facts about our neighborhood schools in Belmont and Redwood Shores:

5 }

Fact: The California Department of Education dashboard (www.caschooldashboard.org) shows that our award-winning schools continue to provide high-quality education, many of which are nationally recognized for student achievement.

6 }
14 } 25
5 }

Fact: The opponents grossly misrepresent Measure C and existing school funding, which local voters have supported since 2004. Measure C simply combines and renews local school funding, saving the District money that can be better used to support our students.

12 }
12 } 38
14 }

Fact: Per student funding in Belmont-Redwood Shores School District is below the state average and among the lowest in San Mateo County. Without Measure C, students will lose $3.5 million in annual funding – requiring teacher layoffs and cuts to academic programs.

We're proud our community has supported local schools in the past. Independent citizens' oversight reports and public audits prove that past voter-approved funds have been spent as promised. You can find the reports at: <https://www.brssd.org/parcel-tax-oversight-committee>.

It's clear that local students receive an outstanding education, and Measure C helps retain the highly qualified teachers and core academic programs our students rely on.

Join us – vote YES on C.
